(Bloomberg) -- Openings include Donatella Arpaia's new pizza spot in Grand Central Terminal.

Prova Pizzabar (Midtown; opens Oct. 10)

- * 51-seat upscale quick service Neapolitan-inspired pizza spot on the lower level dining concourse of Grand Central Terminal

- * Will be the only restaurant in the lower level area with a full-service dining room and a full liquor license

- * Owned by Donatella Arpaia, who previously ran Donatella and Prova in Chelsea and currently co-owns Kefi on the Upper West Side

- * Master Pizzaiolo Giuseppe Manco took home the title of best Italian-style pizza at the International Pizza Challenge in Las Vegas two years ago, beating more than 60 competitors

- * Pizzas:

- * "Prova": Truffle burrata, prosciutto di parma, cherry tomatoes and arugula

- * "Polpette": "Donatella's Famous Meatballs," Neapolitan ragu, mozzarella and basil

- * "Zucca": Pumpkin puree, guanciale, mozzarella, rosemary and pine nuts

- * Also offers pastas, strombolis, focaccia sandwiches, salads and desserts

- * Open Monday-Saturday 11am-10pm, Sunday 11am-9pm

- * 89 E. 42nd St.; 212-972-0385; www.provapizzabar.com
